Wood stove pellets

The nights are finally cooling off and it's time to start thinking about keeping your home warm this winter. Last year, WW Feed & Supply started carrying the premium line of wood pellets from New Earth for use in wood pellet stoves. Produced right here in Colorado from beetle-kill timber, these wood pellets are low-ash and burn great, plus their price is hard to beat at just $227 per ton. If you don't have a pellet stove, but are interested in installing one, give us a call. The same company that produces the wood pellets also markets a line of pellet stoves and we'll be happy to put you in touch with them to get a great stove at a great price.

Fairs filled with purple rosettes

WW Feed & Supply had numerous feeding partners in the winner's circle this summer. Congrats to all our fair champions!

We are pleased to have so many claiming blue ribbons and purple rosettes from those on our feeding program, participating in our 2-day cattle fitting & showing clinic and those that were in our inaugural "Steer-Aid" program. We are delighted to see our feed and juniors both do exceptionally well in beef, sheep, swine and goat projects.

The 4-H and FFA programs teach excellent responsibility and animal husbandry lessons and we're glad to be a part of it. A list of top feeding partner winners, as reported thus far, is found on: www.wwfeed.com

Show feeds on clearance

With the Southern Colorado fair season nearly over, WW Feed & Supply is putting the remainder of its in-stock Show-Tec feeds by MoorMan's on clearance. If you're planning on taking an animal to the National Western Stock Show or other winter shows, or just want to stock up at a discount for next spring's feeding season, now is the time to take advantage of season-end specials. Call for pricing and product availability. In-stock inventory will be priced at or below current wholesale pricing.

Feed the feathered friends?

Want to supplement your feathered friends? WW Feed & Supply's most popular winter bird feed is a Wild Bird Blend, available in a 50-pound mix or in a block to set on the patio. We also carry black oil sunflower seeds and white proso millet, plus domestic feeds for canary, cockatiel, finch, large hookbill, parakeet and pigeon.

Halt those intruding pests

Summer's flies will soon shift to autumn's arrival of mice. WW Feed & Supply carries a variety of baits to help you assault those disease-carrying invaders.

Rodenticides come in two basic types – anticoagulants and neurotoxins.

Anticoagulants make the rodent bleed internally. Just One Bite bars and Tomcat liquid are examples of anticoagulant baits we carry.

Neurotoxins, a newer class of bait, are found in Wipe Out packages & Rampage chunks. This requires just a single feeding, verses 4-6 feedings of some anticoagulants. In addition, neurotoxins produce no secondary toxicity. That is, if your dog or cat eats a mouse poisoned by Wipe Out, it will not harm your pet. Like all poison, caution still must be taken to keep the bait itself out of reach of children, pets and non-target animals.
